

REGIONAL VOCATIONAL SCHOOL

TOWN MEETING COMING UP

A Regional Vocational School, for Wilmington, Burlington, Billerica, Tewksbury and Bedford, will probably be one of at least five articles for a Special Town Meeting, which the Board of Selectmen are planning to call, perhaps in October.

'Eighty-two per cent of the families in Wilmington responding to the poll conducted by the Vocational School Regional Planning Committee are in favor of a Regional Vocational High School,' Richard Keane told a joint meeting of the Selectmen and the Finance Committee, Monday night.

Keane, Bernard McMahon, and Dick Pelletier, Wilmington's three representatives on the planning committee, attempted to supply all the desired information on the need for the school, the costs involved, and the mechanics of establishing and operating a regional vocational high school. Richard Henneberger, Wilmington's new Town Manager, followed attentively as he sat in on his first committee meeting.

Keane said that the vocational school is tentatively planned to accommodate 740 pupils on a four year enrollment and post graduate basis. McMahon added that the earliest possible date of operation would be September, 1967. Eventually, the school would be expanded to accommodate 1100 pupils from the five town area of Bedford, Billerica, Burlington, Tewksbury, and Wilmington.

The tentative curriculum embraces fourteen vocational areas and four technical subjects. Electronics, auto mechanics, auto body, graphic arts, beauty culture, home economics, and other subjects are planned for the high school level. Dental hygiene, laboratory technology, advanced electronics, and practical nursing will be taught on the post graduate level.

The foremost question in the minds of the Finance Committee members appeared to be, 'How much is this going to cost?' Pelletier and Keane explained that, at this point, they could only estimate costs. Not until after the five towns had joined into a regional unit and the school committee had been formed, could costs be fixed definitely. The estimated net costs to the town for construction, after state reimbursements, are $1,197,000, which Keane stated is over-estimated. Sixty-five per cent of the estimated construction cost of $3,600,000 would be reimbursed by the state. Wilmington's share of the adjusted costs would amount to about 20%.

Finance Committee member George Boylen questioned the Planning Committee as to the number of Wilmington students that would attend a vocational school. McMahon explained the difficulty of projecting an exact number for a date some two years in the future but that he and the guidance counselors felt that sufficiently large numbers of students would take advantage of the program to justify its existence. He added that the vocational schools in North Adams and Southshore have greatly exceeded their estimated enrollment figures.

TM Henneberger asked Keane if a regional vocational school would help to solve the dropout problem. Keane replied that undoubtedly it would help but added, 'We don't want the stigma of a school to train dropouts. The purpose of the school will be to train able students to take on skilled jobs upon graduation.'

The mechanics of entering into a regional unit was fully explained. First, the association must be approved by ballot in town meetings in each of the five towns involved. Then a regional school committee will be formed, the Selectmen of each town appointing two of its representatives to the Regional Planning Committee to serve on the School Committee. Subsequent regional school committeemen will be elected, but the first ones are to be appointed for the purpose of maintaining continuity between the planning and operating phases.

Once a regional school committee is formed, it becomes a body politic empowered to arrive at costs and sell bonds. Within thirty days after a bond issue is announced, each town has the right to call a special town meeting to disallow the bond issue. In case the bond issue is disallowed, the school committee must then submit a revised estimate.

The Selectmen of all five towns involved in the planning of the vocational school will meet here in the Wilmington High School Auditorium on Tuesday evening, August 24th, at 8 pm.

Angie's Baby Beach

No decision before Labor Day

There will be no decision as to the much contested operations at Angie's Baby Beach, at Silver Lake until after Labor Day.

The various members of the Board of Selectmen, last Thursday were told this by Town Counsel Philip Buzzell, who told them by telephone that August was a poor month in which to try to get a court decision.

Mrs. Drew has so been advised by letter, and associates of Mr. Buzzell have told other members of the board the same thing, also by letter.

One of the letters, from Charles M Ewing, Esq. reads:

August 13, 1965

Mr. Lloyd Bender, Selectman
Town of Wilmington
Town Hall

Dear Mr. Bender:

This is to confirm our conversations of today about Angie's Baby Beach.

I gather from what you tell me that the use of the premises by Mr. Sorrentino is contrary to the zoning law and may be illegal for various other reasons as well. I think that the most practical way of obtaining relief is to ask for an injunction against the illegal use of the premises.

I am sorry to say that a hearing on any bill we file would probably not come up in court until after the bathing season is over, which means that it will be pretty hard to prevent a continuation of the nuisance through Labor Day. We can ask in court for a Temporary Restraining Order, but I doubt that the court would grant one on the basis of the allegations we can make, because a court does not like to make an order without hearing all the evidence unless some very serious injury is feared. However, we can try and see what happens.

Very truly yours,
Charles M. Ewing

Nothing high toned about Dick Henneberger

The first impression to be had about Richard Henneberger, Wilmington's new Town Manager, is that he wants to be an ordinary fellow, and do a good job.

The new TM and his family moved into their home at 22 Parker Street last Friday, and the furniture followed on Saturday. In the furniture was one revealing item—a piano chair or stool, with a marble top.

The Henneberger family had sold their piano, back in Markham, as they felt it would not cost so much to replace, rather than pay freight.

But they brought along the marble topped stool, because that had been made by Dick Henneberger. Some Regional Vocational School, being proposed, might alleviate the 'pupil load' of Wilmington's schools. The Selectmen, it was to be noted, called him 'Dick'.

Henneberger has a few foibles which might be noted.

He drives a red Porsche, a small European car of exacting standards and has for a second car a Volkswagen, also red. Either one may be seen in the town hall parking lot and will signify that the TM is in. He belonged to a Porsche Club, in the mid-west, and will join one here the first chance he gets. Porsche owners are fussy and proud about their cars.

Perhaps more notable is his use one had given him a piece of marble and he put it to good use. The workmanship, it may be noted, is more than adequate.

WORKING WITH AN ABACUS

He has a midwestern accent, as may be expected, but it is not too noticeable. His Navy experience, in World War II and the Korean War, was as a Cook and Commissary Man. He has several scrapbooks, one for each town in which he served, and in these he takes pride.

Henneberger took a cut of $1000 in pay, when he came to Wilmington. The situation, in his previous town, Markham, was, to use a phrase 'not healthy' for a City Manager. Markham is in Cook County, and has, according to Henneberger 'Cook County Politics'.

He arrived at the Town Hall just before 8:30 Monday morning, in the company of Mrs. Wavie Drew, chairman of the Board of Selectmen. Mrs. Drew took him around, introduced the various officials and clerks, and stood by, at 8:40 am, when he was sworn into office by Town Clerk Esther Russell. Also standing by was Temporary Town Manager Bob Peters, who described himself as being happy at being relieved, for now he could plan his vacation.

Henneberger's only meeting to date was that of the Selectmen-Finance Committee, Monday night. He spoke little, only to ask questions about the possibility that the of the abacus. Used extensively by the Chinese, for problems in mathematics, in this country an abacus is more often seen as a toy, by the baby's crib.

But it does work rapidly and accurately, for persons skilled in its use. Henneberger may end up doing the town's budget on an abacus.

BAR MITZVAH, Saturday, in Temple Shalom, in N. Wilmington, will be held for David Gordon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Julius Gordon of Oak Street. The services start at 9 am, and will be followed by refreshments.

IK-KA-GA-DES-IKA

IK-KA-GA-DES-IKA, as every world traveler knows, means 'How are you?' in the Japanese language.

Donald Coolidge of Lake Street, Wilmington High School student, Governor of Interact, guest of the Wilmington Rotary Club, as Ambassador Extraordinary to the Rotary Club of Kyoto, in Japan, arrived home Tuesday evening.

He landed at Logan Airport, at 5 pm, on a TWA Starstream Flight from Los Angeles.

Waiting at the airport were Mr. and Mrs. Donald J. Coolidge, and four of the five other brothers. (One was in a summer camp in Maine). Even baby John Joseph, weighing in at about 40 pounds, was in his father's arms.

For some days the Coolidge family had been practicing their Japanese. They wanted to greet their son and brother in proper style.

Donald approached his family, self confident, and beaming. He had gained five pounds, and a lot of self respect in his trip to Japan.

As one the Coolidge family bowed from the waist, ceremoniously, in Japanese style. Baby Coolidge, of course did not bow, for he was in his dad's arms, and just made it that more difficult for Dad. But it was excellently done.

IK-KA-GA-DES-IKA, the Coolidge family chorused.

Donald looked at them. He was non-plussed.

'What does that mean?' said his father.

'I don't know!' said Donald. 'My Japanese dictionary is in my other bag!'

But he had a wonderful time, and brought back many momentos. He has a full album of pictures, and will undoubtedly be speaking, at the High School, at Rotary Clubs and elsewhere, for many months to come.

For his dad and mother Donald brought Kimonos, gifts of the Rotary Club of Kyoto-West. He goes around the house now in a set of Getas, the Japanese wooden shoes. He has all sorts of gifts—a painting, for instance, of a flower, that a Japanese did for Donald in three minutes flat, and a wonderful painting it is; a Hoko, which is a tapestry, depicting a festival scene in Kyoto, and a cultured pearl from the famed Mikimoto cultured pearl gardens.

He has several vivid memories, about which he will undoubtedly be speaking. One morning he got up at 5 am, to visit a Shinto shrine, (Japanese ancestor worship) and then a Japanese cemetery. He was so excited he forgot to take a camera with him.

He was in the Olympic Stadium, in Tokyo, with Mr. Tanaka, on a sightseeing tour, on the 20th anniversary of the signing of the peace treaty, and heard the loudspeakers ask for a moment of silence, in memory of the event.

Donald can talk for hours about his experiences. One that makes his eyes widen is to relate the Kennedy Half Dollar story.

He took a dozen Kennedy Half Dollars with him to Japan, and found that the Japanese people revered them, almost as do many Americans revere religious medals.

One Donald gave to a niece of his host and hostess.

That Kennedy half dollar was to be pierced, the young lady said, and she would wear it, forever, suspended by a cord around her neck!

WEARING A SHIRT HE BOUGHT IN HAWAII, Donald was pictured just after he arrived at Boston on TWA Starstream Flight 66 from Los Angeles.

With him are Rotary past president Harold Foley and Stewardess Sarah Himes of Marblehead.

The State Cop wasn't home

Three Wilmington boys, a week ago last night, provided the people of North Street and nearby streets with the best show the area has seen in years.

Shortly before midnight they 'borrowed' three light trucks, and took off for a night of fun. They were seen, and the police department was alerted.

The boys turned into North Street and in short order plenty of Police Cruisers, plus the two Police Dogs, Zip and Roscoe, were on North Street too.

One of the boys, in his early twenties, was captured in one of the trucks, at the corner of North and Pleasant Streets. Three doors from where he was captured is the home of Trooper Warren Bailey, of the Massachusetts State Police. Trooper Bailey and his wife missed all the fun, for they were out to a late show and dinner.

The other two boys took to the woods, which surrounds many of the homes in the area.

For an hour and a half residents of the street, clad in their night clothes, sat on their porches and watched the fun. It was, one of them said, 'Better than any Wild West show!'

The police were beaming their flashlights up every tree in turn, in the woods, in front yards, and in back yards. The police dogs were searching every clump of brush, and going under every automobile.

The boys were finally cornered and taken to the Police Station. One was in Court the next day—due to the fact that he was already on probation. They will appear in Woburn Court, tomorrow.

Burrows & Sanborn break ground for new N. Reading store

Theodore H Kaufman President of Burrows & Sanborn Inc of Lynn and Sidney G Rubin, President of the Atlantic Realty Corp presided Tuesday, at the ground breaking ceremonies for the first branch of Burrows & Sanborn, Inc.

The new Burrows store will have 40,000 sq ft and is to be located at the Atlantic Plaza, Route 28, in North Reading. A mid-November opening is planned. The new store will have complete credit facilities and will offer all of the major brands of merchandise. Credit plans of 30, 60 and 90 days will be available in the beautiful air-conditioned store.

Store Planning Consultant Gary Laredo, who planned such stores as Jordan Marsh, and Macey's of New York was retained to create the new store image. Mr Kaufman states that the store will bring to

(Two years ago Jim and Eleanor Demos of Hopkins Street took a summer vacation in Greece, only to have Jim, a native of the United States, drafted into the Greek Army. This is a report on their latest trip to Greece, this summer, under the auspices of travel arranged by the Massachusetts Teachers Association.)

The Demos family, this year, first went to England, where they bought a MG Convertible, red in color. With them was Lennie Gagnon, a teacher in the Wilmington Public Schools. Jim used to teach in Wilmington, but now teaches in Chelmsford.

The three tourists took a leisurely tour of France, Spain and Portugal, and then turned back, went to the Riviera, and Italy.

Down in the 'heel' of Italy, at Brindisi, they took the ferry to Greece, Patras, a port in the Peloponnese, and they motored on to Athens.

This was familiar territory to the Demos family. They had spent six distraught weeks in Athens in 1963, while they were arguing with the Greek Army.

It was about the third of July, they are not certain, that they motored into Athens this time. The constitutional crises had been on for three days.

Athens put on a tumultuous demonstration - but not for Jim, Eleanor and Lennie. The good people of that city were letting their king and government know how they felt.

The three Wilmington tourists were not, of course, demonstrating against the government, but they were caught right in the middle of the surging crowd.

They escaped with only a few dents in the fenders of their new car.

'It wasn't as bad as the last time' sighs Eleanor.

Add one more school bus

The School Committee at last Thursday night's meeting voted to authorize an additional bus during the months of September to December 1965, to take care of the increased number of children who must be bussed to school.

The busses, this past year, had been loaded to capacity. 961 pupils in grades 7 - 12 were transported and this year 1030 pupils are anticipated for this group.

The Finance Committee has requested a report from the school committee of the impact of the Willis Bill on the school structure in the town. A comment was made that about a $2,000,000 impact would be made on the town according to the first report received by the School Committee.

Member George Robertie questioned the accident insurance for football players and was told that the insurance policy covers only injuries sustained by players while playing football. Thus, if a football player tripped and fell on the stairs, or had an accident totally unrelated to playing football, the special football insurance would not cover it.

A life-like head and shoulders oil portrait of Miss Marland was shown and the committee reported that the Marland Memorial plaque would be completed and mounted on birch within two weeks.

Richard Keane reported to the committee that the work on the final figures on the Regional Vocational School is rapidly going ahead. Representatives from the five towns involved will meet for comprehensive discussion, shortly, and in September a report will be prepared for presentation to the townspeople in a future Special Town Meeting.

Arthur Lynch expressed concern at the present insufficient work force at the site of the West Intermediate School and was told by Supt. Shea that the Permanent Building Committee was doing everything legally possible. He was distressed by the prospect of the contractors hastily doing the work at the last minute that could have

Vincent Galucci submitted a letter of resignation to the committee. He has accepted a position in Norwell. Robertie suggested a rearrangement of students in the Guidance Department to avoid being at a loss due to missing personnel. The committee commented on his spoken intention to continue in the Wilmington Schools. The committee had granted certain privileges to Mr. Galucci to allow him to further studies leading to a higher degree.

The resignation of Catherine Berlinghieri was regretfully accepted.

The Mass. Division of Employment Security, in a letter, praised the work of Mr. Hamilton of the Guidance Department.

The meeting was adjourned at 10:36 pm.

PRESCHOOL IMMUNIZATION
CLINIC SEPTEMBER 7

On Tuesday, September 7th, the regular monthly immunization clinics for the protection against whooping cough, diphtheria, tetanus, and polio will resume. The clinic will now be held at Villanova Hall, located next to St. Thomas Rectory, from 9:30 to 10:30 am.

These clinics are held on the first Tuesday of each month for one hour only (9:30 - 10:30am), and are for children 3 months of age up to school age.

NORTH SHORE MUSIC
THEATRE

'Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs' will be performed at the North Shore Music Theater in Beverly by the puppets of Ronor Marionettes of New York. The performance will begin at 3 pm on Thursday, August 19. 'Rumpelstiltskin' on August 26, will be the final show scheduled in this Musical for Children series.

Russel Crouse, the noted playwright, will lecture on Saturday, August 21, at 5:15 pm. The final lecture on August 28 will be presented by the actress, Julia Meade.

'Mary, Mary' will open Monday, August 23rd, starring Julia Meade. This is the next to the last show of this summer season. 'South Pacific' which will start on August 30, will close the season.

Beverly's North Shore Music Theatre is unique among the summer circuit. Its permanent steel roof and canvas side walls provide both security and comfort. One Boston critic has called the theatre 'one of the most beautiful in the country.' Well landscaped grounds add to its beauty. A weekly art exhibit is an interesting extra.

PBC Meeting

Messrs Raymond McClure and Ralph Currier were the only members present, for the Permanent Building Committee last Monday.

The pre-meeting discussion covered a variety of subjects, but unfortunately a quorum was not achieved, and at 8:33pm everyone gave up the ghost and went home. However, Mr. Guarino, the architect, mentioned that next Monday the Library Committee would be sitting with Mr. McNiff, the Consultant, and that the plans should be complete enough for the two committees to study.

Mr Guarino asked the Clerk of the Works for the West School, Mr Krasinski, how the water situation was. Krasinski replied that the pumps were going only eight hours a day, that the boiler room was all poured, and one foot on the west side walls is to be started this week. Another carpenter has been hired. Currier and McClure expressed their disgust at the waste of excellent weather by the White Construction Co.

A letter was read from Charles G Hall, regarding damages for the taking of land for the Woburn St. School. (He is the former owner of the land). Currier remarked that 'We don't take land. The Town Meeting takes the land. It's none of our affair.'

Quick results

Alfred B. Henson of MacDonald Road was fined a total of $55 yesterday morning, in Woburn Court, after having been apprehended by Officer James Cuoco at midnight, just about 10 hours earlier.

Henson entered a plea of guilty of drunkenness, operating a car while under the influence of alcohol and leaving the scene of an accident. The first charge was filed, and he was fined on the second and third.

His car had struck a car at 11:45 pm Tuesday, in front of the Gallo home on Middlesex Avenue. Henson left, but not before notice had been taken of his car, and he was picked up shortly afterwards by Officer Cuoco, who had heard the description of the car over his police cruiser radio.

This is Drum Corps Week

The Wilmington Crusaders, the Drum and Bugle corps of this town, now three years old, is observing the national Drum Corps Week, which is from August 15 to August 22.

The Crusaders, after much hard work, have achieved some note in the various competitions, and are beginning to bring home a few prizes for their efforts.

The pateranry of a Drum Corps Competition, which blends military precision and musical perfection, has twice been brought to Wilmington since the formation of the Crusaders, now being assisted by the Wilmington Grange.

The pictures on this page were taken on August 8th, on the Wilmington High School football field.

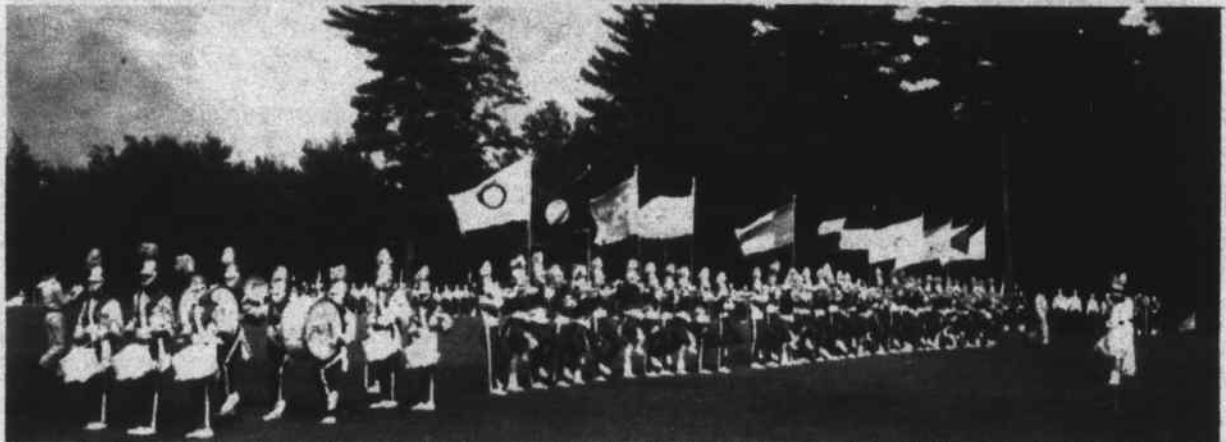

THE SWORDSMEN: A Junior Drill team, for the real youngsters, is an auxiliary and training corps for the Wilmington Crusaders.

THE WILMINGTON CRUSADERS: Wilmington's own Drum and Bugle Corps, were the hosts, 10 days ago, to a fine exhibition of teams from eastern New England.

THE ONLY ALL GIRL TEAM: St. Jean's, of Lynn, with 70 girls in line. They took first place, in the Class B event.

THE PARAMOUNTS: Of Worcester, prepare to pass in review. This team took second place in the Class A event.

LAND COURT

No. 45795 Misc. In Equity
(seal)

To Haig Boyajian, of Watertown, in the County of Middlesex and said Commonwealth; and Sarkis Kousseyan, residence unknown, or his heirs, devisees, or legal representatives: Greeting:

Whereas a suit in equity has been begun against you in our Land Court, by James F. Murphy and Laura M. Murphy We Command You, if you intend to make any defense, that on the first Monday of October next, which Monday is the return day of this subpoena, or within such further time as the law allows, you do cause your written appearance to be entered and your written answer or other lawful pleading to be filed in the office of the recorder of said Court at Boston in the County of Suffolk, and further that you defend against said suit according to law, if you intend to make any defense, and that you do and receive what the court shall order, adjudge and decree therein.

Hereof fail not, at your peril, as otherwise said suit may be adjudged, and orders and decrees entered therein, in your absence.

The plaintiffs represent that they are the owners of a certain parcel of land shown as Lot A on 'Plan of Land in Wilmington, Mass., surveyed for Frank E. Frotten, November 2, 1963, James T. Putnam, Surveyor,' recorded with Middlesex North District Registry of Deeds in Book of Plans No. 99-72 B; and that it appears in the chain of title that one Haig Boyajian was the owner of the premises on May 18, 1938, and gave a mortgage to the Home Owners Federal Savings and Loan Association, dated May 18, 1938, recorded with Middlesex North Registry of Deeds in Book 913, Page 193; and that, further, on May 15, 1941 the mortgagee, the said Home Owners Federal Savings and Loan Association, foreclosed said mortgage, the foreclosure deed having been recorded with said Registry of Deeds, Book 960, Page 486 through 489, without having first received permission so to foreclose under the provisions of the Soldiers' and Sailors' Civil Relief Act of 1940 as amended.

And it appearing to the Court upon the suggestion of the plaintiffs that the whereabouts of some of the defendants are unknown, and they cannot actually be served with process, it is ORDERED that notice be given by publishing a copy of this order once each week for three successive weeks in the Town Crier, a newspaper published in said Wilmington, the last publication to be one month at least before the said first Monday of October next.
